

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please replace the Abstract of the Disclosure currently on file with the following substitute Abstract:

 The method, system or software concerns problem points in regard to which a learner would like to improve, the relevant images are compared with those of an instructor as the model performance to be displayed in conjunction with a method of improvement in diagrammatic representation and/or letters or speech sound. An electronic apparatus, such as a DVD, the Internet, a PC, etc., is used as a means for recording, editing, processing through operations and searching the data of the examples of problem points and methods for improvement.